

THE RESULT OF THE DONKEY'S LOVE

There was one potter

He had one dog who would guard the house.....

....and a donkey who would carry his bundle of weight

During the day, the potter would whistle and call the dog

The dog would wag his tail, come running and lie down at his master's feet. Sometimes, he would keep his legs on master's leg and then express his love for him. The master too would pamper him

This dog does no do any work still the master loves him. He plays with him gives nice eatables. Besides, everyday he takes him for strolling

Standing in the courtyard, the donkey would daily see this scene. He would burn with jealousy

I have been carrying these heavy weights till the end of my life. Yet I get beatings from my master

What should I do so that the master will love me like a dog? The dog loves the master and hence the master behaves so nicely with him

One day, the master was sitting along with the guest. The master and the guest were drinking tea

That very moment, the donkey brought his idea into action. Like the dog he began to move his tail

Then, he came and layed down at the master's feet. He raised his four legs and began to roll on the ground. Everyone was surprised

Due to the donkey's jerk, everyone's tea-cups fell and broke. Even master got kick of the donkey on his face

The master got annoyed. He picked up the stick which was lying in the corner and....

.....began to beat the donkey. Due to the beatings, the donkey was almost half-dead

The donkey began to ponder

This is surprising! I tried to show my affection just like dog. Then why I was beaten by my master?
