Jiva Goswami

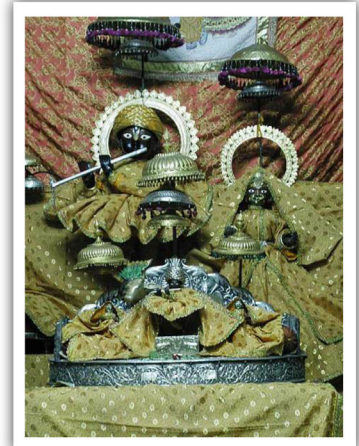

Appearing as the nephew of Sri Rupa and Sanatana Goswamis, Sri Jiva Goswami displayed all the charming features of a divine person. As a child, Sri Jiva took up the worship of Sri Sri Rama Krishna Deities. Carefully decorating Them, and offering bhoga and arati, he served Them attentively. Even when playing, Jiva's games were often connected with Lord Krishna's pastimes.

Jiva Goswami established the worship of Sri Sri adha Damodara in Seva Kunja, Vrindavana. He serves as Vilasamanjari in Radha-Damodara's nitya Vrindavana lila.

Jiva Goswami was the youngest but most prolific writer among the Goswamis. He wrote an astounding half million Sanskrit verses (about 25 books). Gopala Campu is one of His famous works.

Jiva Goswami enjoyed various pastimes with Nityananda Prabhu, touring the nine islands of Navadwipa and taking darshana of the holy places of the Lord's pastimes. Later, He traveled to Vrindavana, where he joined the company of his two uncles, Sri Rupa and Sri Sanatana. He stayed with Sri Rupa, who taught him Srimad Bhagavatam and gave him mantra initiation
